

Interpreting for With Deaf Professionals

A workshop by Andrew "Aw" F. Metz

Saturday, 27th of March, 2010

Deaf Professionals have broken the glass ceiling. Now you can.

Today, Deaf Professionals work and thrive in government, university, education, non-profit, and private industry settings. Interpreters in these work settings need to be equipped with a full knowledge and skill set that will enable them to serve these professionals effectively.

Reasonable accommodation will be provided upon request. No cancellations or refunds accepted.

Be able to:

- ❖ Compare historic approaches and current trends
- ❖ Ask key questions in clarifying and understanding the nature of the interpreted meeting
- ❖ Incorporate key features of affect and technique
- ❖ Utilize a variety of strategies
- ❖ Identify resources to further enhance interpreting skills
